No additional rural areas have recently been brought under compulsion.

(c) & (d). The Government consider that the provision of complete properly staffed and adequately accommodated schools must precede the introduction of compulsion in any area. They have accordingly been taking steps to provide a sufficiency of ~~xxxxxx~~ school places in all rural areas, to build up complete five standard elementary schools and to improve the qualifications of the teachers and the accommodation in the schools. As soon as this preliminary work has been satisfactorily carried out, the question of experimenting with complusion in further rural areas will be considered.
